SECTION 1

About Flush Markers

The most common memorial style at Washington Memorial Park

A flush marker — also called a flat or lawn-level marker — rests level with the grass rather than standing upright. It creates a clean, unobstructed landscape while providing a permanent, dignified memorial that families can visit for generations.

Flush markers are the standard memorial style at Washington Memorial Park. They are available in granite or bronze, and can serve as a single marker or a companion marker shared between two people.

WHY FAMILIES CHOOSE FLUSH MARKERS

- Low profile — blends with the landscape
- Low maintenance — easy for grounds crews
- Durable — resists weathering for generations
- Cost-effective compared to upright monuments
- All-inclusive pricing (stone + engraving + install)

Washington Memorial Park Marker Policy

Nearly all sections require flush (flat) markers only. Upright monuments are permitted in very few areas — only Section 6, designated blocks of Section 23, and Cascade Court.

For the vast majority of families, the choice comes down to two materials: granite or bronze. Both produce beautiful, lasting memorials — but granite has become the clear favorite for its unmatched personalization options.

SECTION 2

Granite vs. Bronze: Side by Side

How the two materials compare on the features families ask about most

Granite

NATURAL STONE

- ✓ Over 20 stone colors available
- ✓ Custom engraving — names, dates, epitaphs, emblems, scenes
- ✓ Ceramic steel photo portraits in color or B&W (lifetime warranty)
- ✓ Hand diamond & laser etched portraits carved into stone
- ✓ Exceptionally durable — resists weathering, staining, fading
- ✓ Single & companion sizes from 28×16 to 36×72

Includes granite, engraving, wording (epitaph), and installation. Photos are the only add-on.

MOST POPULAR

Bronze

CAST METAL

- ✓ Classic, traditional appearance with warm bronze finish
- ✓ Raised lettering and standard emblem options
- Limited color options — bronze patina only
- No photo portraits available on bronze
- No hand-etched artwork or custom scenes
- ✓ Government markers available for veterans

Bronze markers require a separate granite or concrete foundation, quoted separately.

SECTION 3

Why Granite Is the Most Popular Choice

Unmatched personalization that tells your loved one's story

The number-one reason families choose granite over bronze is personalization. Granite opens up options that simply aren't possible with cast bronze — from full-color photo portraits to hand-carved artwork.

20+ Stone Colors

Choose from over 20 granite colors across three pricing tiers, from Cloud White to Absolute Black.

Photo Portraits

Ceramic steel portraits in full color or B&W — kiln-fired and warrantied for life.

Diamond Etching

A skilled artisan etches a portrait directly into the stone, dot by dot. Permanent and deeply lifelike.

Custom Engraving

Names, dates, epitaphs, religious symbols, emblems, and hand-carved scenes.

Natural Durability

Resists weathering, staining, and UV fading. Keeps its finish for generations.

All-Inclusive Pricing

Every marker includes stone, engraving, wording, and installation. Photos are the only add-on.

Ceramic Steel Portraits

Kiln-fired porcelain photo plaques with a lifetime warranty

Ceramic steel portraits are kiln-fired porcelain photo plaques recessed into the marker. The image is fused into the porcelain at high temperature, so it will not fade, peel, or discolor outdoors. Available in full color, sepia, or black & white. Recessed mounting is included at time of order.

SECTION 7

Diamond & Laser Etched Portraits

Permanent artwork carved directly into the granite

Artisan Hand Diamond Etching

A skilled artisan etches a portrait or scene directly into the granite surface, one dot at a time, using diamond-plated tools. The result is a deep, permanent impression — more lifelike and durable than a surface-level laser etch. For best results, the portrait area should be at least 6" tall, and a high-quality source photo makes a real difference.

Starting from $2,035 · Absolute Black granite only · Subcontracted specialty work

Laser Etching

A precision laser creates a detailed image on the granite surface. A more affordable alternative to hand diamond etching, though the impression is shallower. Available only on Absolute Black granite for maximum contrast.

Starting from $1,070 · Absolute Black granite only

All prices effective 03/01/2026. Prices include granite, design/engraving, installation, and 10.4% WA sales tax. All granite markers are covered by the PCM Limited Warranty. Prices subject to change without notice.
