Urn Gardens

Two gardens set aside for cremated remains, the three ways to be placed, and every charge.

A garden for urns

An urn garden is a garden built for urns instead of caskets. The urn is buried in the ground and marked the same way any other grave would be, but everything is scaled to an urn, so it feels more like a garden than a lawn section. There are two here: the Lake Urn Garden on the lake shore, and the Rose Urn Garden in the Garden of Flowers.

1 or 2 rights, by space

A right of interment is permission to place one person. Rose Urn Garden spaces carry two, so one space can hold a couple on one contract. Lake Urn Garden burial spaces carry one, and some cremation posts carry two.

THE TWO GARDENS

Lake Urn Garden

GENERALLY

$4,395–$5,495

Where a particular one falls in that range depends on the size, the location and the options you choose. I would rather give you a real number than a guess. Call or email me and I will put an exact quote in writing for you, with no obligation.

THREE WAYS TO BE PLACED

In the ground. The urn is placed in a garden space and marked with a bronze memorial set flush with the lawn, exactly as a grave would be. Available in both gardens. Opening and closing $875.

In a boulder. The urn goes inside a natural boulder set near the water at the Lake Urn Garden, closed with a bronze cap carrying the inscription. Opening and closing $1,425.

In a cremation post. A low granite post standing in the garden bed, holding the urn above ground with the bronze memorial on its face. Memorial from $5,670.
