

Terrace Garden Memorial Path

The newest cremation property at Washington Memorial Park — a granite niche bank, nine individual memorials along a planted path, and everything on it new.

SECTION 1

The Path

A planted terrace between the mausoleum wings

The Memorial Path, looking down the terrace. The small granite posts either side of the walk are individual memorials.

The Terrace Garden Memorial Path is the newest cremation property at Washington Memorial Park. A paved terrace runs between the mausoleum wings, with a bluestone and river-rock circle at its centre, planted beds either side, and a freestanding black granite niche bank standing across the far end.

There are two quite different things for sale here. The niche bank is a wall of 40 granite-front niches, priced by row. Along the path stand 9 individual memorials — cremation posts, pedestal benches, a companion columbarium and a birdbath — each of which holds cremated remains in its own right.

All of it is new. Nothing on the path has been sold and re-offered; this is a garden that opened with everything in it available.

The Niche Bank

Forty granite-front niches, eight across and five rows high

The fronts are blank and polished — names are engraved into the granite itself.

A Terrace Garden niche

GRANITE FRONT • TWO RIGHTS OF INTERMENT

The bank is eight niches across and five rows high, and it is priced by row: the middle row is the highest and the top and bottom rows the lowest. Niches are addressed TGN-C-4 and so on.

BY ROW

$12,000—$16,000

Every niche in the bank carries 2 rights of interment. Open the Terrace Garden map to see the bank and every placement along the path.

SECTION 3

Along the Path

Nine individual memorials, from a single post to a companion columbarium

Cremation posts

GRANITE POST • ONE OR TWO RIGHTS

The smallest memorials on the path, set into the bark beds either side of the walk. Single posts hold one; a double post holds two, and some carry a carved rose, daffodils or birds.

POSTS

$8,000–$16,000

Benches, columbarium and birdbath

GRANITE • TWO TO FOUR RIGHTS

The larger pieces: two pedestal benches, a companion columbarium with an alcove, and a birdbath on a pedestal. Each holds cremated remains inside it.

LARGER MEMORIALS

$24,000–$52,000

The 9 memorials along the path carry 1–4 rights of interment, depending on the piece, and run $8,000–$52,000 across the whole set. Ask us for the item-by-item list if you want to compare them side by side.

SECTION 4

What It Costs

One schedule across the whole path

ADDITIONAL CHARGES

Opening and closing, recording, endowment care and any inscription are charged in addition to the price of the space. They are straightforward, and they differ by location and by what you choose — call or email me and I will put the exact figures in writing for you, with no obligation.

About these charges. The same charges apply across the whole Terrace Garden Memorial Path, the niche bank and the individual memorials alike. They follow the Mountain View Columbarium, June 2026 schedule, confirmed 2026-07-29; no fees appear on it this location's own sheet, which prints a price and a rights count and nothing else. Your family service director will confirm the current charges before quoting.

SECTION 5

What You Will See Today

The garden as built, not as drawn

The beds are dark bark mulch. The marketing artwork for the Terrace Garden draws them as bright green turf; the built garden has bark around the posts, which is what every photograph in this guide shows and what you will find when you walk it. We would rather you saw it here than were surprised by it there.

The pool is gone. An earlier plan for this terrace showed a reflection pool. The path replaced it entirely — there is no pool in the garden today.

The planting is young. This is a new garden, so the beds and the planters are still filling in. The stone, the posts and the niche bank are finished and in place.

SECTION 6

Coming to See It

What to decide, and what we will confirm for you

- Decide between the niche bank and an individual memorial along the path. They are very different things — one is a place in a wall, the other is a piece of granite that is yours alone.
- If you are looking at the bank, decide the row: it is what sets the price.
- If you are looking at the path, decide how many rights you need. The pieces run from one to four.
- Walk it. It is a small garden and ten minutes in it answers most of the questions.
- Ask us to confirm the exact space, its price and today's availability before anything is signed.

Ranges in this guide are computed from the price and availability data behind our live niche maps and are re-checked against them automatically whenever this page changes. They describe what is currently offered for sale, and a range moves as spaces sell. The exact price of a specific niche, and today's availability, are always the ones your family service director confirms for you.
