

Urn Placement Options

Every place cremated remains can rest at Washington Memorial Park, side by side, with what each one costs.

Three ways, two urns

Cremated remains rest here in one of three ways: a niche in a columbarium, burial of the urn in the ground, or scattering. Every niche at Washington Memorial Park carries the right to place two urns, so a couple is one contract; the only exception is the Veterans Court of Honor, where a niche holds one.

OR BURIED IN THE GROUND

Ground Burial of an Urn

A standard grave space

ANYWHERE IN THE PARK • UP TO THREE URNS

An urn can go into an ordinary grave space in any section, and one space holds up to three. This is what families choose to be beside relatives already here.

MOST GARDENS

$6,995–$9,995

Across the numbered gardens the full range is $4,995–$18,995

Lake Urn Garden

BUILT FOR URN BURIAL • ONE URN PER SPACE

Spaces sized for cremated remains at the front of the park, beside the lake and the fountains. The more affordable of the two.

SPACE

$5,495

Both carry the same charges beyond the space: endowment care, opening and closing, the recording fee, and a flush marker quoted separately. Anything buried has to survive being there, so the urn either goes inside an urn vault or is one rated for burial. I will price the number of placements you have in mind.

Walk two or three of them

These read alike on paper and feel nothing alike in person, and an hour walking three of them settles it for most families. Tell me which ones and I will meet you there, then put the exact figures in writing with no obligation attached.
