

Granite Niches

The three places at Washington Memorial Park where cremated remains rest behind a granite front — what a niche is, what each one includes, and what it costs.

SECTION 1

What a Granite Niche Is

A permanent, above-ground place for cremated remains

A niche is a compartment built to hold cremated remains inside a permanent memorial structure — a columbarium, or a garden wall. The urn is placed inside and the niche is closed with a front panel. That panel is what you and your family see and touch when you visit.

“Granite front” describes the closure. At the three places in this guide the front is stone: the contents are not visible, and the name, dates and any inscription are engraved into the granite or carried on a bronze plate fixed to it. Families who choose a granite front usually do so for that reason — the wall reads as one uniform stone face rather than as a row of individual displays.

Washington Memorial Park also has glass-front niches, where the urn itself is visible behind glass, at the Mountain View Columbarium and the Eternal Light Columbarium. Neither is covered here; each has its own live map (Mountain View · Eternal Light).

What a niche gives a family. A permanent address to come back to, cared for by the cemetery. No ground burial and no grave to open. And, at two of the three locations here, room for a couple in one niche — see the next paragraph.

Rights of interment. A right of interment is permission to place one person’s cremated remains in that niche. Every Rock of Ages niche and every Terrace Garden niche includes two; Garden of Meditation niches are sold as companions and also carry two. Two rights means two people may be placed in the same niche — usually a husband and wife — on one contract.

Prices in this guide come from Bonney Watson’s current price sheets for each location and are quoted as ranges, because within one wall the price depends on the row and the face. Your family service director will confirm the exact price and the current availability of any space before anything is written down. Prices are subject to change without notice.

SECTION 2

Rock of Ages Columbarium

A granite courtyard, seven double-sided walls, two rights in every niche

Rock of Ages is a granite columbarium built around an open courtyard, sheltered by a timber pavilion. Seven double-sided sections carry five tiers of five niches on each face — walls A, B and C on the south bank, E, F and G on the north, and Wall D standing across the west head. Faces that look into the courtyard are the interior faces; the rest look out over the lawn. Two granite memorial benches sit in the courtyard.

Rock of Ages niche

Granite front · two rights of interment in every niche

GENERALLY
$7,995–$15,995

Depending on the wall and the tier. Interior courtyard faces and the higher tiers price above the outward-facing walls and the lower tiers; the least expensive niches on the site are the bottom tier of Wall G’s outside face, the most expensive the top tiers of the interior faces.

Two rights of interment come with the niche — two people may be placed in it. That is the standard here; there is no separate companion product to buy.

ADDITIONAL CHARGES

Opening and closing, recording, endowment care and any inscription are charged in addition to the price of the space. They are straightforward, and they differ by location and by what you choose — call or email me and I will put the exact figures in writing for you, with no obligation.

Open the Rock of Ages niche map to see live availability and the exact price of any niche.

SECTION 3

Garden of Meditation Niches

A stepped black granite garden wall — sold as companions

The Garden of Meditation niches are a stepped wall of polished black granite set into a planted garden, with bronze plates and bronze vase holders on the faces. The wall steps up from low wings at either end to a taller centre section. Its official property address is GOM-1-1-ROW-SPACE, so a specific niche reads as, for example, GOM-1-1-C-7.

Garden of Meditation niche

Companion niche · two inurnment rights · one niche vase included

GENERALLY
$5,995–$8,995

Depending on the row: the lower rows are the least expensive and the top of the centre section the most. Only part of the wall is offered at any one time — ask us to confirm today’s availability, and anything not currently priced is confirmed before it is quoted.

Sold as a companion niche (2 inurnment rights). Due to niche size, the Interlude Urn is required — two fit per niche. The companion capacity and the urn requirement are one fact, not two: the niche holds two people because two Interlude Urns fit in it. The Interlude Urn is $665 each, plus 10.4% sales tax — merchandise, quoted alongside the niche rather than as a fee. One niche vase is included.

ADDITIONAL CHARGES

Opening and closing, recording, endowment care and any inscription are charged in addition to the price of the space. They are straightforward, and they differ by location and by what you choose — call or email me and I will put the exact figures in writing for you, with no obligation.

Where this schedule comes from. The Garden of Meditation price sheet prints its own opening & closing, recording and inscription charges, but Bonney Watson now applies the Mountain View Columbarium, June 2026 schedule here instead (confirmed 2026-07-31); the amounts above are that schedule, and they replace the older ones printed on the sheet. The Endowment Care Fund rate is unchanged at 10%. Your family service director will confirm the current charges before quoting. Two inscriptions may be added to the front of a companion niche — one for each person.

TWO RULES CARRIED FROM THE PRICE SHEET

“NO PHOTOS ALLOWED” — printed on the Garden of Meditation price sheet and reproduced here word for word. Ask your family service director how it applies to what you have in mind for a plate.

“E.C.F: 10% — *E.C.F is not included in listed pricing” — the Endowment Care Fund charge is added to the niche price rather than contained in it.

Open the Garden of Meditation niche map to see which niches are available and their exact prices.

SECTION 4

Terrace Garden Memorial Path

Brand new: a granite niche bank, and other ways to place an urn along the path

The Terrace Garden Memorial Path is the newest cremation property at Washington Memorial Park. A paved terrace runs past a reflection pool, with a freestanding black granite niche bank at one end and a planted bed of individual memorials along the path. Everything here is new inventory.

BY ROW

$12,000–$16,000

GENERALLY

$8,000–$52,000

Open the Terrace Garden Memorial Path map to see the niche bank and every placement along the path with its price and rights count.

Page 2 of 2